Textile Expert Began At $3 A Week, Headed First N.Y. Hospital Without Any Colour Bar

Harry C. Oppenheimer, co-founder and president of the textile converting concern of Brand & Oppenheimer, Inc., 229 Park Avenue South, New York, and for many years a leader in philanthropic and interracial activities, died of a heart attack at his home, 26 Gramercy Park South. He was 73 years old.

Mr. Oppenheimer was born in Harlem on April 29, 1889, and was given the middle name of "Centennial" in honor of the centennial celebration of George Washington's inauguration in New York as the first President on April 30, 1789.

His interest in interracial causes grew out of the results of discrimination that he saw practiced against Negro class-mates, says the New York Times. He once told of having known a brilliant Negro student at the High School of Commerce who was a member of the glee club and played with him on the football team, and who committed suicide a few years after graduation because he could get nothing but menial jobs.

Later, Mr. Oppenheimer and his wife saw D. W. Griffith's motion picture, "The Birth of a Nation," which had as one of its themes a defense of the Ku Klux Klan. They were so upset by it that they travelled to Tuskegee University to consult Booker T. Washington and plan a publicity campaign to counteract it.

In 1943, Mr. Oppenheimer, with a group of other persons acquired control of Sydenham Hospital, which was a voluntary institution in Harlem, built in 1926. Sydenham thereupon started upon an experiment of non-discrimination that was to make it known as the first private voluntary hospital in New York City with both white and Negro board members, staff physicians, interns, nurses, technicians, and patients in both private and semi-private rooms.

Commenting on the experiment, Mr. Oppenheimer in September, 1944, told an interviewer:

"We've had no friction — and we looked for it. When we started our interracial policy at the hospital last December not one doctor resigned. Interns, nurses, and doctors of both races not only work together, but also eat and sit around together.

"On numerous occasions we have put a white and a Negro patient together in a semi-private ward. We always tell both patients of our intention before hand — and we've never had an objection."

In 1951, after Sydenham had become financially burdened, it was taken over by the city. Mr. Oppenheimer, who had been president of its board of directors, announced at the time that the hospital would continue its interracial policy, says the New York Times. He also announced the formation of the Sydenham Society, Inc., to help finance special projects and facilities for patients, doctors, and staff members at the hospital.

After graduating from high school, Mr. Oppenheimer's first job was in a textile house at $3 a week. In 1918, he and a school friend, the late Herbert Brand, formed Brand & Oppenheimer, Inc. Mr. Oppenheimer became recognized as a leading authority in the textile field.

For ten months during World War II he was administrator in charge of finished textiles for the U.S. Office of Price Administration, and in 1947 he was appointed as industrial specialist and general merchandising expert to the American Military Government in Germany, to supervise the rehabilitation of the cotton and rayon mills in both the British and American zones.

Mr. Oppenheimer was president of the Sydenham Hospital Association; a vice president of the American-Israel Cultural Foundation; chairman of the State Commission against Discrimination; and a vice-president of the New York Association for New Americans. He was a board member of the United Jewish Appeal, the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, the Anti-Defamation League, the Hebrew Immigrant Aid Society, and the Postgraduate Center of the School for Psychotherapy.

In 1946, Mr. Oppenheimer and the Rev. James H. Robinson, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of the Master, 86 Morningside Avenue, were named as the first recipients of the "Two Friends Award" established by the National Urban League "to signalize outstanding instances of interracial teamwork for the good of the American community."

To Discuss What Religious Groups Can Do Faced With Racial Prejudice

What should religious groups do when they encounter racial prejudice in church, synagogue, and society? Aspects of the question will be discussed in four forums at the National Conference on Religion and Race, a conference official said, reports John Wicklein, in the New York Times. The Conference, the first national meeting convened jointly by four major faith groups, will be held on January 14-17 in the Edgewater Beach Hotel, in Chicago.

Its sponsors are the National Catholic Welfare Conference, the Synagogue Council of America and the National Council of Churches. The National Council is made up of both Protestant and Eastern Orthodox Communions.

Chairmen and co-chairmen of the conference were drawn from the four faith groups. The chairman is the Rev. Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of Morehouse College, in Atlanta. Vice chairmen are:

The Right Rev. Germanos, of Synadon, Bishop of the seventh archdiocesan district of the Greek Orthodox Archdiocese of North and South America; Rabbi Ferdinand M. Isserman, of Temple Israel, St. Louis; Bishop Julius H. Smith, president of the Board of Christian Education of the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church, and the Most Rev. Paul J. Hallinan, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Atlanta.

The program chairman is Rabbi Marc Tanenbaum, director of the Interreligious Affairs Department of the American Jewish Committee. Four forum papers will set the stage for discussions at the conference. Authors of the papers and their topics are:

The Rev. Will D. Campbell, associate director of the Department of Racial and Cultural Relations, National Council of Churches — racial discrimination in church and synagogue; Msgr. John J. Egan, director, Archdiocesan Conservation Council — racial responsibility of church and synagogue as institutions in the community; Dr. Dan W. Dodson, professor of education, New York University — the role of church and synagogue in racially changing communities; and Rabbi Morris Adler, of Congregation Shaarey Zedek, Detroit, the relation of church and synagogue to other community forces.

The main objectives of the conference are to help religious people and their institutions to advance the goals of a segregationless, prejudice-free society; to enable them to resolve together to clean their own houses."

Newhouse Couple Pledge $15 Million To Syracuse U. For Study Center

S. I. Newhouse, newspaper publisher, and his wife, of New York, have pledged $15 million to Syracuse University to develop "the world's largest and most advanced study center in mass communications," Chancellor William P. Tolley announced at Syracuse, N.Y., says the New York Herald Tribune. The gift is among the largest given to an American university in the past 10 years by a living donor.

The Newhouse Communication Center, as it will be called, will include studies in journalism, radio and television, audiovisual materials, photo-journalism, public relations, and communication management, religious journalism, and literacy and communication research.

The new center, which will have three buildings with a central terrace, will probably welcome its students in the fall of 1964, when the first building, the School of Journalism, is expected to be completed. The entire center should be finished in 1966.

About 1,000 students per term are expected to attend, of whom 35 will be graduate students. The center will offer a four-year undergraduate journalism course, expanded from the university's present such course, established in 1934.

The center is being designed by I. M. Pei and Associates in co-operation with King and King, architects in Syracuse. Mr. Pei had the winning entry in the 1960 Port of New York Authority competition for a new multi-airline terminal at New York International Airport.

The Newhouse gift, made through the Newhouse Foundation, includes $2 million given in January, 1960. Dr. Tolley said the gift inaugurates an eight-year campaign by the university to raise $76 million for building construction and educational endowments. The campaign has a target date of completion by 1970.

Mr. Newhouse, 66, and his wife (Mitzi), have long been interested in Syracuse and its University. Their two sons, Samuel I. Jr., and Donald Edward, attended the University but did not graduate, says the New York Herald Tribune. Both are now executives in the Newhouse newspaper operations. Mr. Newhouse has been a trustee of the University since 1959.

Jewish Labor Gr[illegible]sks Federal Inquiry Into Job Bias Of Chicago Banks, Insurance

Jewish Labor Committee, of Chicago, called for an investigation by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation of racial and religious discrimination in bank and insurance company employment.

The organization said that a survey showed those types of business to be "the worst offenders," says the New York Times. It said that "it is time for the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation to determine whether, by underwriting deposits in banks, it is not underwriting racial and religious bias."

"A depositor will think twice if a bank does not have a Government guarantee behind deposits. He will take his business to a bank that has this seal of guarantee," the Committee asserted.

It used a survey made by the Bureau of Jewish Employment Problems as the ground for its statement.

The Bureau, of which the Jewish Labor Committee, of Chicago, was a founder and on which it has representatives on the board of directors, surveyed 2,289 job orders received by two private commercial employment agencies from approximately 2,000 commercial and industrial concerns in the Chicago area.

It also reviewed application blanks used by 13 private employment agencies, of which 11 specialized in employment opportunities for women, the Committee said.

The Committee announced that its annual conference on civil rights November 17 would review the Bureau's findings that, of 1,070 job orders of one employment agency, 155, or 14 per cent, were found to be discriminatory.

Of 1,219 job orders from another agency, 34, or 3 per cent of the total, were discriminatory, the Committee declared.

It said that discrimination against Roman Catholics, Negroes, and Jews were as high as 20 to 25 per cent of all job orders at one agency.

The Committee said 11 job orders of an agency requested "Nordic only," nine job orders specified "gentile," while seven orders were for "Protestant only." Four rejected "Negroes," one barred "Jews" and two discriminated in favor of "Negro" and "Catholic," respectively.

The combined effect of the 34 discriminatory orders was to "bar Jews in 30 instances, Catholics in 7, and Negroes in 15 cases," the Committee added, says the New York Times. In another agency examined by the Bureau's survey, "151 orders were against Jews, two were in favor of Jews and Protestants, with 156 against Negroes."

The Committee noted that the report of the Bureau said that nine of the companies had contracts with the Federal Government and had signed the President's Committee of Equal Employment Opportunity's Plans for progress. Seven, the Bureau report said, were companies with city of Chicago contracts, and one had both a city and a Federal contract.

"In effect, all of the 16 companies cited above "appeared to be in violation of their contractual obligations to the Federal Government and city government of Chicago "in their signed agreement promising to observe merit employment practices as an essential condition of the contracts," the Bureau said.

The Jewish Labor Committee said that 10 or 12 private employment agencies in downtown Chicago examined by the bureau used applications containing discriminatory questions on religion, nationality, or descent, says the New York Times. The Committee noted that Illinois had had a Fair Employment Practices Commission since July 20, 1961.

Social Notes — Montreal

Mrs. Barnard Wolk, 1450 Webb Street; Mrs. Wesley Bernkoff, 6667 Trans Island Avenue; and Mrs. Eugene Lemansky, of Cranford, N. J., gave a kitchen shower with thirty guests at the home of Mrs. Wolk, in honour of Miss Zelda Siminovitch, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Jack Siminovitch, 766 McEachran Avenue, fiancee of Norton Solomon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Solomon, 102 Hurstwood Avenue, Valois. Miss Zelda Siminovitch was in a black knitted dress. Assisting in serving were: Mrs. Jack Siminovitch, mother of the bride-to-be; and Mrs. Moe Zalman.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Karovitch, 6668 McLynn Avenue, gave a luncheon with seventy-four guests at the Stage Coach Inn, to celebrate the sixteenth birthday of their daughter, Harriet (Heni), granddaughter of Mrs. B. Schacter, 5281 Clark Street, and of Mrs. A. Erdell, 4443 A. Esplanade Avenue. Mrs. Karovitch wore a beige crepe sheath dress; made with a V-neckline, and three-quarter-length sleeves; and having a matching satin cummerbund. Mrs. Schacter was in a blue, printed silk, two-piece suit. Mrs. A. Erdell wore a green printed silk suit. Harriet wore a white and black jersey dress, with a black jersey bodice, having a boat-shaped neckline; and three-quarter-length sleeves; and a full, white brocaded skirt; and her bouquet was of pink carnations. A white and red heart-shaped birthday cake, and a centerpiece of white and red carnations, trimmed the table.

Mrs. Ben. Blostin, 4570 Draper Avenue; and Mrs. Clara Beim, 1470 Van Horne Avenue, gave a luncheon with fifty-five guests at the LaSalle Hotel, in honour of the former's daughter, Miss Sheilah Blostin, who is the fiancee of the latter's son, George Beim. Mrs. Blostin was in a black silk sheath; made with a heart-shaped neckline, and three-quarter-length sleeves; and having a black satin cummerbund. Mrs. Beim wore a two-piece blue silk dress; made with three-quarter-length sleeves. Each had a corsage of red roses. Miss Sheilah Blostin was in a pale blue silk sheath dress, designed with a jewelled neckline; and three-quarter-length sleeves. The sheath skirt had floating panels attached at the front and back. She had a wristlet of white gardenias. The table was trimmed with an arrangement of pink and white carnations. The marriage will take place on August 25, at Shomrim Laboker-Beth Yehuda-Shaare Tefillah Synagogue.

Mrs. Irving Drabkin, and daughter, Miss Donna Drabkin, 7794 Stuart Avenue, gave a luncheon with thirty-five guests in the Regency Room, of Morgan's, in honour of Miss Bernice Bernstein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bernstein, 8225 Stuart Avenue, fiancee of Irving Haimovitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Haimovitz, 3260 Barclay Avenue. Mrs. Drabkin was in a red and white knitted suit; and had a corsage of white carnations. Miss Drabkin wore a grey and white knitted suit; her corsage was of white carnations. Mrs. Bernstein was in a three-piece beige and brown knitted ensemble. Mrs. Haimovitz was in a brown knitted dress. Miss Bernice Bernstein wore a red wool dress, made with an A-line skirt; and had a wristlet of red and white carnations. The table was trimmed with an arrangement of red and white roses and carnations. The marriage will take place on February 24, at Shomrim Laboker-Beth Yehuda-Shaare Tefillah Synagogue.

THE OLD EGG-MAN

BY [illegible]

As far back as I can remember Mr. Barlinsky was part of my childhood. Our horse was in Oranjezicht and on Tuesdays and Fridays up the steep hill he would come, with a large basket of eggs on each arm. No matter what sort of weather it was—the South-easter could be blowing furiously or the rain might be coming down in torrents, but along he would come, his back humped up under the weight of his heavy baskets.

He would rest outside our gate before negotiating the final climb up our pathway and the steps up to the stoep. Carefully he would place the baskets on the stoep and then, with a deep sigh, he would sit down heavily on one of the low pillars that flanked the steps. Off would come his cap and with a well-used handkerchief he would wipe his head which was bald and very pink.

The buying of the eggs was a bi-weekly ceremony — a ritual which was never hurried over. My mother would place a large tureen beside the baskets and in his own good time Mr. Barlinsky would select the eggs, shaking each one gently before placing it in the tureen. Sometimes, in the manner typical of most housewives, my mother would say:

"The eggs are not very big this week, Mr. Barlinsky."

"What you mean, Mrs. Hyman—not big? Just feel one, feel how heavy. Not big! Such eggs," he would say, as he lovingly held one in the cupped palm of his hand, weighing it slowly up and down, "you won't get in the whole of Cape Town."

And, believe me, I have never seen eggs such as those which Mr. Barlinsky sold—they were the biggest and freshest eggs imaginable with pink, translucent shells. After they had been counted and paid for and the money had been carefully put into a large, canvas bag, there was always time for a chat.

"Nu, and how's the family—Mr. Hyman better to-day? And look how nice Rochela is, prettier every time I'm coming. And big, also. Soon be going to cheder with Davy. Mrs. Hyman, next week you know it's Purim. I'm bringing some Homentashen for you. Mina wife's she's making such Homentashen—the best in Cape Town."

Having had his rest and his little chat he would adjust the baskets on his arms, pause for a moment to get his balance and then carefully descend the steps and the slippery, steep path. How I longed to help him, even if it were only to the end of the path. One day I ventured to say:

"Mr. Barlinsky, I'll carry one of your baskets to the gate for you."

He paused halfway down the path and regarded me with his deep-set, kind old eyes. "Such a good girl you are, Rochela, but the basket is too heavy for you. One day, please God, when you are big like Davy, you can help me. But you are a nice girl. Next time I'm coming, for you I'm bringing a special egg. You like it—boiled egg for breakfast?" I ran on ahead to open the gate for him, so that at least in some way I did help Mr. Barlinsky.

A few weeks before Passover every year Mr. Barlinsky would pay us an extra visit to take an order for matzos. Fascinated I would stand in front of him while he put on very crooked, steel-rimmed spectacles and then wrote down the order in beautiful Hebrew letters.

"How much matzos you want this year, Mrs. Hyman?"

"I think six boxes will be enough."

"Only six boxes? Such a little? Don't be silly, Mrs. Hyman. Why you don't take a dozen boxes?" And a dozen boxes it would be!

"And what about matzo meal?"

"A two-pound bag, Mr. Barlinsky."

"A small bag? What you mean, Mrs. Hyman, it's Pesach — for Mr. Hyman and the children you'll be making kneidelach every day." And so it would be a five-pound bag, and we would have kneidelach for the next six months!

My father died when my brother was eleven and I was eight and from then on Mr. Barlinsky took it upon himself to 'father' us as far as our Hebrew instruction was concerned, and he would say: "Look, Mrs. Hyman, if there is anything you are needing for the children, don't worry, I'll get it for you by Mr. Katz."

How happy he was to get tefillin for my brother and most of the books he needed, and when the Barmitzvah came, what a great help he was to my mother. I remember vividly how proudly he sat in Shul telling all his friends that he had known the boy since he was a baby, and with what pride he came to the party with a tallis as a present. David still uses that prayer-shawl to-day.

The years rolled by. My brother and I both went to varsity and when David qualified, Mr. Barlinsky was as proud of him as thought he were his own son — or rather, grandson. "Your Davy is such a clever boy," he would say to my mother. "So young and already a doctor. Might one day he'll be a specialist?" If my brother were at home when he called, he would sit on the stone pillar as he always did, slowly nodding his head and saying, "Uh . . . uh . . . Davy, Davy, a doctor — and I'm knowing him when he was so big."

To us Mr. Barlinsky seemed ageless — in all the years that we knew him, he always looked the same. He had never missed coming to us through illness or even to go on holiday, so that it came as a great shock when we received a message one day telling us that he was very ill. My mother and I went down to his house to see him, and how glad we were that we paid that last tribute to him for the following week he died. His tired, old body could not fight the power of pneumonia.

For weeks afterwards we would wait for the familiar knock on Tuesdays and Fridays. And then gradually we realized that we would never again see the beloved figure of old Mr. Barlinsky who had not only been our egg-man, but one of our dearest friends as well.

This story is from Jewish Affairs.

THE LIBRARY

BY DR. ISRAEL FRANKEL, DIRECTOR-LIBRARIAN, TORONTO JEWISH PUBLIC LIBRARY

The dedication of the Jewish Public Library of Toronto means that this building will be a storehouse of the accumulated wisdom of Jewry throughout the ages, standing as a perpetual memorial to the intellectual and moral strivings of Jews the world over. In an age when men fear intellectualism, the Library stands as a great challenge to man's flight from reason.

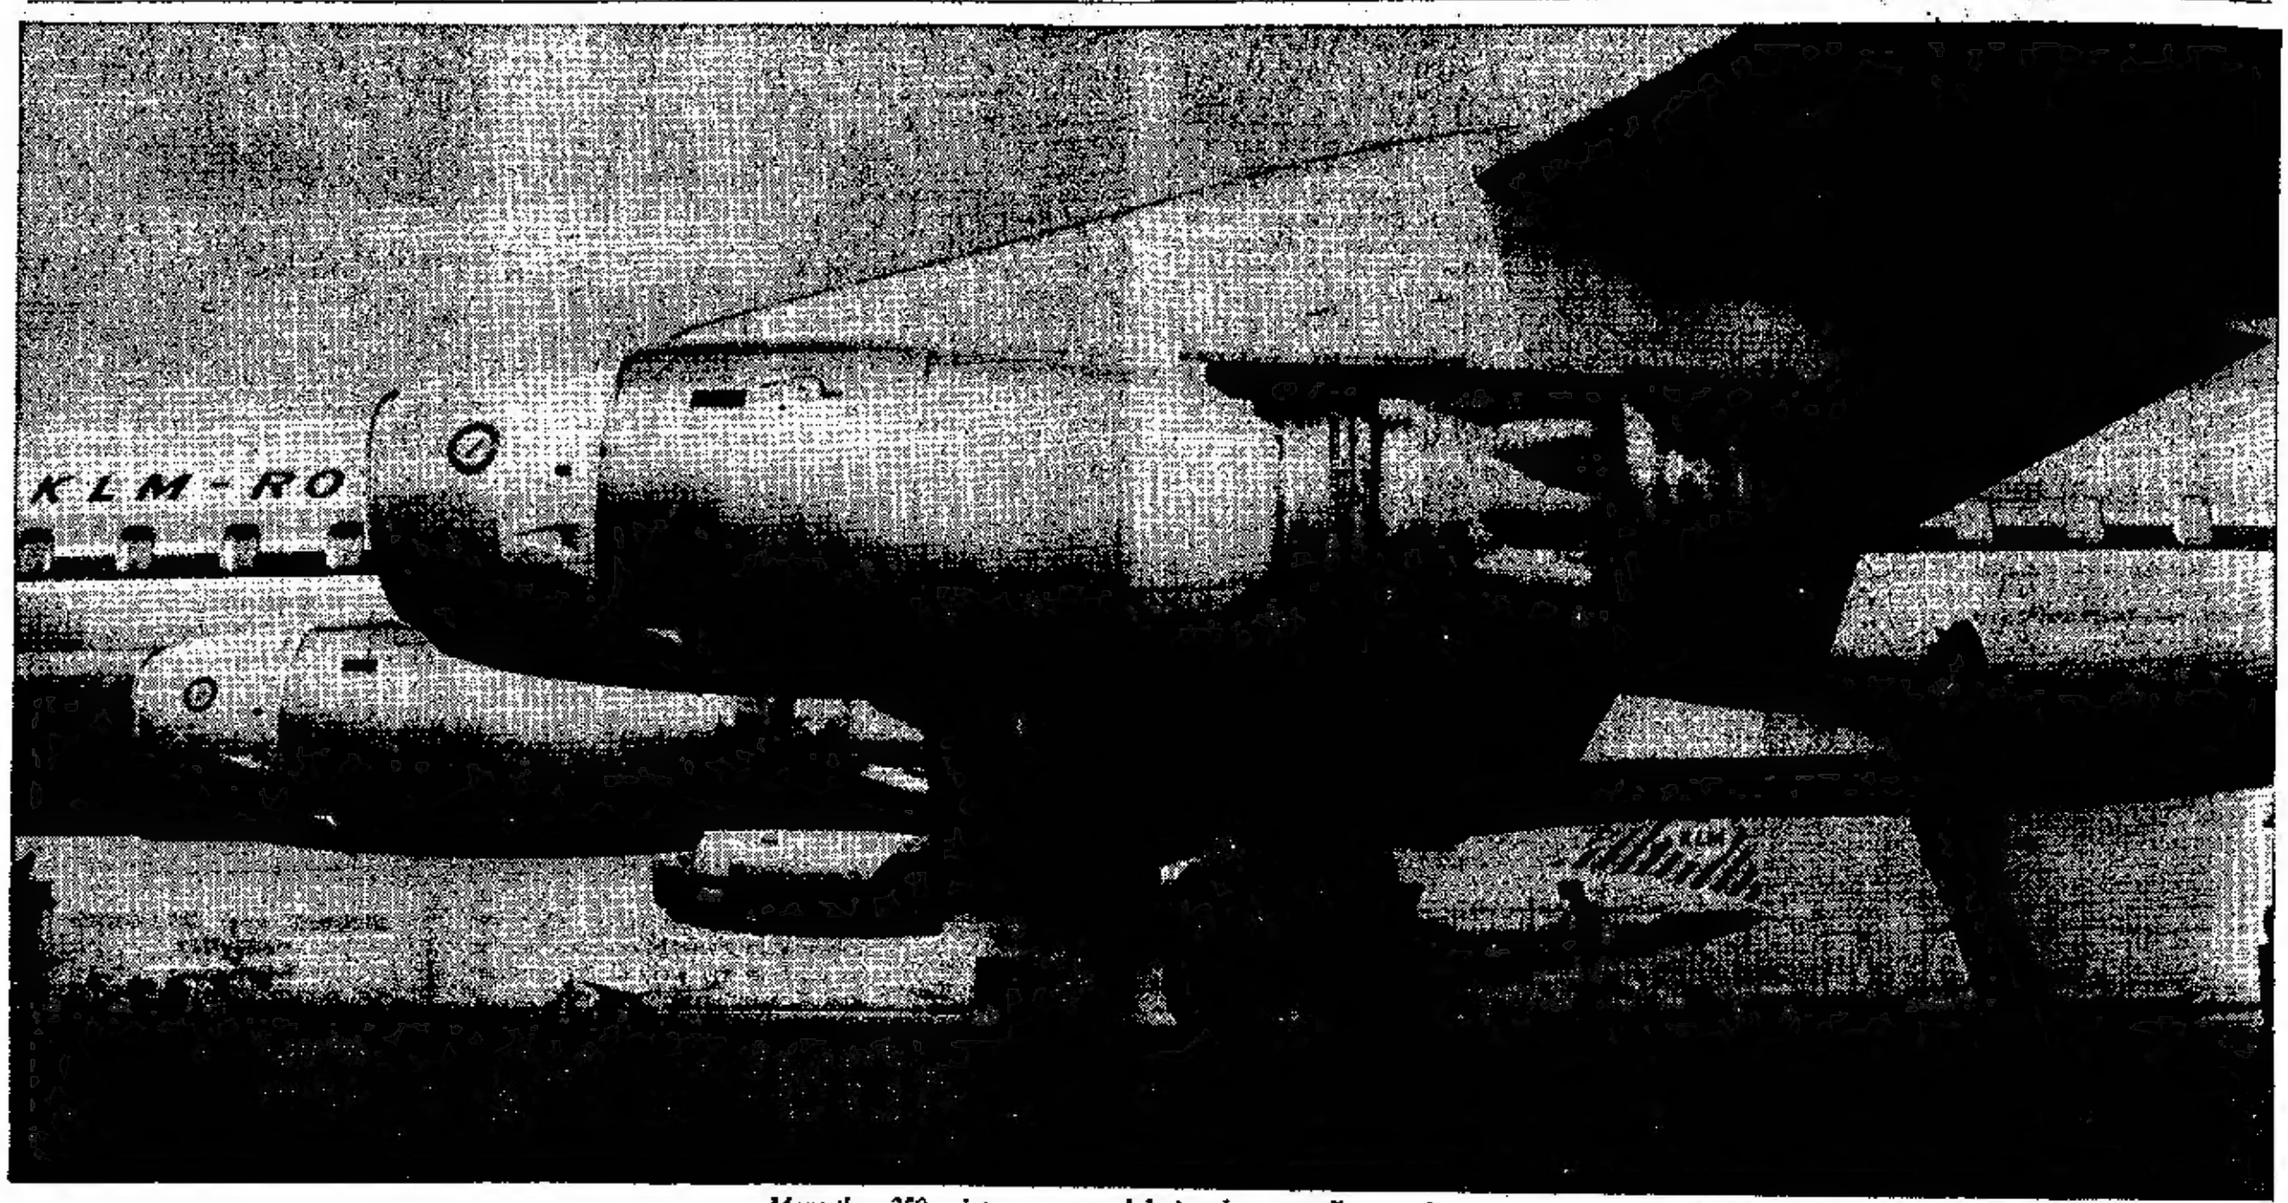
When Solomon said "to the making of books there is no end" (Ecclesiastes 12,12), he must have said it in a mood of weariness and cynicism. It is true that there is much trash which appears as literature and much that is unworthy of reading. Yet, to scorn the word and the book is to do disservice to the creative talents of men. To our people in particular, the book means everything, we were born by the book, we have lived by the book, and, paradoxically, have achieved deathlessness through the book. If Judaism was ever impatient, it was impatient about ignorance.

"The Shechinah accompanied Israel into exile", says the Talmud picturesquely (Megillah 29a). Wherever they settle, the People of the Book established spiritual citadels, libraries, academies, schools. These were armouries that strengthened and protected the Jew against the "slings and arrows of outrageous fortune" (see Genesis R. 18,20). Books were his constant companions during the unholy wars that drenched the river Rhine with Jewish blood. The Books accompanied him through centuries of exile and wanderings, through the perilous passes of the Pyrenees, during Chmielnicki massacres of 1648; during the pogroms of Eastern Europe; and the Nazi holocaust.

The eclipse of East European Jewry saw the rise of American Jewry as the largest Jewish community in the world. The torch that had illumined Jewish life in the old world with the fire of love for Jewish learning was rekindled in the New World. Today, the New World is exceptionally well equipped for Jewish research and Jewish studies.

Our Library in Toronto specialities in Judaica in the three languages; that is, English, Hebrew, and Yiddish. Our rich collection, both for circulation and reference, covers every phase of Jewish life. We feel that anyone who browses among our shelves experiences a feeling of being united with the ages. Here one can see most precious works, the loving labours of great Jews throughout the generations. There are books from every part of the world where Jews once lived. One comes to realize how vital has been the Jewish past. It is hoped that this Library will be instrumental in instilling a great pride into many of our people (the younger generation in particular) about the riches of their heritage.

We, therefore, request all spiritual and lay leaders, teachers, and parents to become further aware of the functions of the Toronto Jewish Public Library and to serve as an inspiration to the younger generation, at home and at school, in promoting and publicizing the services available at the Library.



More than 250 points are covered during the two walk-around inspections and one pre-flight check preceding every KLM DC-8 Jet departure

Before every flight a DC-8 Jet gets two walk-around inspections and one pre-flight check. Read several other facts about the careful, punctual Dutch and the reliability of KLM.

KLM believes in double-checking everything. Before every flight a DC-8 is inspected both by KLM maintenance crew and by the flight engineer who walks around the entire plane to double-check about 60 key points. Including hydraulic fluid, engine intake ducts, tire treads, brake linings, toilets, lights and power for the galley.

1. A KLM DC-8 Jet has 4 American-built Pratt & Whitney Turbo-Jet or Turbo-Fan engines, each producing 17,000 lbs. static thrust or more. KLM has been using Pratt & Whitney engines since 1932.

2. KLM was the first airline to install the Doppler System for long distance automatic navigation in its jet fleet. This system gives a constant picture of where the airplane is at any time. It makes navigation easier and quicker, leaving the crew to keep a careful watch on other instruments.

Captain a Navigator, too

3. Every intercontinental KLM captain has to hold a navigator's license—he can't get his fourth stripe without it.

4. 222 KLM pilots have flown more than 10,000 flying hours.

5. KLM's flight engineers also hold licenses as ground engineers. Result: A KLM flight engineer is qualified to check on ground maintenance.

6. KLM stewardesses know about the aircraft they fly in. Their training includes lectures on the principles of flying.

Services for Young Travellers

7. Every KLM stewardess takes a special course in baby care during training and loves to look after children during the flight. KLM provide many special services for young travellers.

8. KLM was the first airline ever to carry a special baby menu on board. It helps mothers plan their babies' diets in flight. It also has space for noting individual babies' special needs. On long flights, when flight crews change, this shows the new stewardess the name, age and diet requirements of individual infants already on board.

9. KLM carries two kinds of baby food on board. Dutch baby food is tinned, American baby food is bottled. KLM does this because they know that mothers' preferences for baby food vary. KLM likes to keep everybody happy.

10. The toys junior KLM passengers play with on board are carefully selected. They must appeal to children of many nationalities. They are designed to stimulate quiet play.

11. Every KLM intercontinental flight carries a travel information bag. This is an attaché case full of tourist information. There is a set of KLM Tourist Information leaflets, covering 101 countries. There is information on KLM's fleet, a time table, and detailed tourist information about the Netherlands.

KLM's exciting I.T. Winter Programme

12. KLM's 17-day "Sun Sojourn to Israel" offers you a glorious tour to the cradle of the world's great religions and civilizations. This sun-filled trip to Italy, Greece and Israel is actually an air-sea cruise, mixing swift, relaxing flights on KLM DC-8 jets with a 6-day sea cruise through the beautiful Mediterranean. KLM's all-inclusive fare is surprisingly low.

13. KLM's "Mediterranean Highlights" takes you to three countries with rich and contrasting cultures: Italy, Greece and Turkey. You will fly on KLM's DC-8 Jet and cruise the azure-blue waters of the Mediterranean aboard the S.S. San Marco or San Giorgio. A KLM 17-day excursion special, this air-sea vacation is yours at an all-inclusive bargain price. Flights from Montreal or New York.

14. KLM's "Caribbean Island Hop" is a 18-day air-sea cruise to Curacao, Aruba, Jamaica, Costa Rica and Colombia. Let your Travel Agent tell you how KLM Jets bring this wonderland of perpetual sun within a few hours' reach—and also how special tour prices make a stay in the tropics surprisingly reasonable.

15. Another vacation worth investigating is KLM's "Grand Tour of Europe", a bargain-priced 17-day whirl through the glamourous capitals of old Europe—at the height of the cultural season. You'll visit six countries and taste the sparkle of life in Amsterdam, London, Paris, Rome and other exciting cities. The price is surprisingly low, thanks to KLM's special 17-day excursion fare. Flights from Montreal or New York.

16. From October 1st to March 31st KLM's special 17-day economy class excursion fares are in effect—enabling you to fly from Montreal to Europe for $138.60 less than the usual cost.

17. KLM's convenient Fly Now Pay Later Plan not only covers your round-trip ticket, it can also be used for all-inclusive tours, hotels and sightseeing. Only 10% down.

17 Cities at no Extra Fare

18. Ask your Travel Agent about KLM's seven unusual city-hopping programs each based on a different destination. This wonderful KLM Multi-Stopover Plan enables you to visit as many as 17 cities for the same fare you pay for one!

19. Having themselves been professionals in the field or air transportation for 43 years, KLM recognizes that it takes professionals to plan trips efficiently. In every city in Canada, KLM is represented by a professional—your Travel Agent.

TORONTO ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Goldman, 82 Hillmount Avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Rhoda Marlene Goldman, to Melvin Neil Mosten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mosten, 45 Gulliver Road. The marriage will take place in September, at Beth Sholom Synagogue.

MARRIAGES

ROEBUCK-FEDERMAN

The marriage of Miss Sharon Rochelle Federman, daughter of Reverend and Mrs. Harry L. Federman, 45 Clifton Avenue, to Gerald Roebuck, son of Mrs. Trudy Roebuck, 543 Lawrence Avenue, and the late Mac Roebuck, was solemnized on October 27, at eight o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Goldman, 44 Blue Forest Drive, uncle and aunt of the groom, by Cantor Joseph Kelman, assisted by the bride's father. The bride was given in marriage by her parents. She was attired in a long gown of white peau de sole. It was designed with a fitted lace bodice, encrusted with seed-pearl-beads and crystals; and designed with a round neckline, short sleeves; and a full skirt. Her veil of tulle illusion was topped with a crown of pearls and crystals; and she carried a cascade bouquet of coral-coloured roses and stephanotis. Mrs. Marvin Abrams, sister of the bride, was matron of honour, wearing a gold-coloured and white brocaded gown with an A-line skirt; and a matching jacket. She had a corsage of sweetheart roses and carnations. Misses Barbara Federman, sister of the bride, and Razel Roebuck, sister of the groom, were bridesmaids. They wore gowns composed of white peau de sole bodices, and red velvet skirts. Each had a corsage of red roses. The groom's cousin, Barry Freeman was best man. Mrs. Federman received the guests in a champagne-coloured lace gown, designed with a fitted bodice, and square neckline; and short sleeves; and a short train. She had a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Roebuck wore a gold-coloured brocaded gown; with a square neckline and short sleeves; and had a corsage of coral-coloured roses. Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Roebuck spent their honeymoon at the Algiers Hotel, in Miami Beach, Florida. The bride departed in a salmon-pink, two-piece suit; with a corsage tinted to match. They are residing at 45 Clifton Road. Here for the occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. Max Braverman, of Sudbury, Ont.; and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Knight, of Ottawa, Ont.

ROTMAN-GREENSPAN

The marriage of Miss Susan Greenspan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Greenspan, 29 Mount Royal Avenue, to Marvin Rotman, son of Mrs. Molly Rotman, 51 Sparrow Avenue, and the late Joseph Rotman, was solemnized on November 4, at six o'clock, at the North Bathurst Talmud Torah, with Rabbi David Monson officiating, assisted by Cantor Paul Sheldon. The bride was given in marriage by her parents. She wore a white peau de soie gown, made with a sweetheart neckline, and long, pointed sleeves; and a softly-draped skirt, which extended to a chapel train. Her tulle illusion veil was attached to a crown of pearls and sequins; and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and roses, and streamers. The maid of honour was Miss Millie Rotman, sister of the groom. She wore a gown of ivory-toned satin, trimmed with gold beading; with a bouffant skirt. The bridesmaids were: Mrs. Jerry Glass; and Miss Roslyn Giblon, cousin of the bride. The junior bridesmaid was Shaindy Greenspan, sister of the bride. They wore white peau de soie gowns, with beaded bodices; and bouffant skirts with scalloped hemlines. They had rhinestone tiaras; and carried yellow and white chrysanthemums. The best man was Sidney Rotman, brother of the groom. The ushers were: Jules Kamen, cousin of the bride; Philip Rosenberg, Joel Goldhar, Leonard Marlieb, Harold Gerber, Harvey Goodman, Norman Nissenbaum, and Boris Kaufman. Wedding music was played by Murray Alter and his orchestra. A dinner and reception followed at the North Bathurst Talmud Torah. Mrs. Greenspan, the bride's mother, wore a light blue silk gown, with a sheath underskirt; and beaded overskirt and bodice; and had a matching hat; and a blue tinted orchid corsage. Mrs. Rotman, the groom's mother, chose a gold-toned peau de soie gown, entirely beaded; with a straight skirt; and had a matching hat; and a white orchid corsage. Mrs. Rebecca Wachter, 8 Covington Road, grandmother of the bride, wore a light blue lace gown; with a matching hat; and had a white orchid corsage; and she was assisted by her nephew, Norman Nissenbaum. Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Rotman spent their honeymoon at the DiLido Hotel, in Miami Beach, Florida. The bride departed in a red wool suit; trimmed with a black mink collar; and matching black accessories. They will reside at 29 Mount Royal Avenue.

He is the brother of Miss Sylvia Dubitsky; and of Joshua, aged sixteen years; grandson of Mrs. Zissil Rose, of that address, and of the late Edgar Rose; and of the late Reverend and Mrs. J. Dubitsky, of Montreal. Kiddush will be observed. There will be a dinner in the Synagogue hall, that evening.

MARRIAGES

KRAVITZ-STROLL

The marriage of Miss Joyce Stroll, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Stroll, 2155 Scott Street, to Rubin Kravitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Kravitz, 5244 Mountain Sights Avenue, took place at Shomrim Laboker-Beth Yehuda-Shaare Tefillah Synagogue, on November 4, at six o'clock. Dr. Chaim N. Denburg, Rabbi, officiated, assisted by Cantor Arieh L. Suber. The bride was given in marriage by her parents. She was gowned in white silk brocade; cut with a tight, fitted bodice; with a scooped neckline and three-quarter-length sleeves. The bell-shaped apron effect on the skirt finished in a chapel train. Her butterfly veil of tulle illusion was draped to a matching pill-box hat; and she carried a prayer book, adorned with white orchids and baby yellow roses. Miss Terrye Stroll was maid of honour for her sister. She wore a blue peau de soie gown; having a beaded bodice; and bell-shaped skirt. Her headdress was of matching colour; and she carried a small muff, adorned with pink carnations. The bridesmaids were: Misses Gloria Bercovitch, Iona Bercovitch, and Heather Stroll, cousins of the bride; and Irene Gotfrit, niece of the groom. They were dressed alike in blue peau de soie gowns; made with beaded bodices. They had matching pill-box hats; and carried bouquets of white and pink carnations. Moe Kravitz was best man for his brother. The ushers were: Saul J. Kirshner and Myer Manhaim; and Edward S. Kravitz, and Gerald Gotfrit, nephews of the groom; Stephen R. Paskell and Ralph Brookman, cousins of the bride; Manuel Litwin, and Irving Novack, cousins of the groom. Standards of pink and white carnations, roses, and gladioli, arranged with greenery, were the wedding flowers. An orchestra played. Afterwards, a reception for three hundred and fifty guests was held in the Synagogue hall, where white pom-poms and pink carnations were used to decorate. Mrs. Stroll, mother of the bride, wore an ice-blue peau de soie gown; made with a beaded front bodice; and bell-shaped skirt. Her pill-box hat was of matching colour. Mrs. Kravitz, mother of the groom, was in a light blue, peau de soie, beaded gown; with a matching pill-box hat. Each had a corsage of pink orchids pinned on an evening purse. Mr. and Mrs. Rubin Kravitz spent their wedding trip at the Nevele Country Club, in Ellenville, N. Y., the bride departing in a red Italian knitted suit; under a blue mohair and wool coat. Here for the marriage were: D. Archinoff, and sons, Glenn, and Irwin, of Toronto, Ont., cousins of the groom; and Miss Joyce Paskell, of Tucson, Arizona, cousin of the bride.

HOW DO THE WARTIME ALLIES LOOK AT GERMANY, ITS PEOPLE, AND ITS DEMOCRACY TODAY?

statistically informed that the visible signs of anti-Semitism appear with no more frequency in Germany than in New York's Brownsville.

"Anti-Germanism abroad," says Dr. Hendrik Van Damm, Director of the Central Council of Jews of Germany, "is as wrong as anti-Semitism in Germany."

Of course he is right in the very long run. If we lived for millenia we could be more philosophical about the Germans (as we are about the Swedes who were once ravaging Vikings) changing their recent historical character.

The Germans may never have approved the death camps, but they supported a party whose program of race hatred led to race murder — and the Eichmann trial has just testified to it. The superficial similarity of all people is not quite enough and for Europeans, at least, Germany must prove it has purged itself before they are asked to drop their suspicions.

Some Germans are aware of this and attempt no facile answer. "Everything," said a particularly perceptive Social Democrat, "depends on how democracy develops in Germany. When a swastika appears in England, you don't worry. English democracy is not in doubt."

German democracy very much is. It is true that cold-war needs discouraged the development of infant German democracy by encouraging a much older tradition of militarism. Without going into this, sufficient for the moment are the observations of Germany's greatest philosopher, Karl Jaspers, now teaching in Switzerland. His article appears in the September issue of London's Encounter magazine and is titled, "Our German Trouble":

"We Germans in the West are no different from our fellow-countrymen in the East. Our political freedom is not of our own doing; their tyranny in the East is not their own fault. We in the West received freedom as a gift from the Conqueror; they had total domination superimposed. Both regimes have their basis in the will of occupying powers.

"In the West, by the will of the victors, we have been given a democracy which did not emerge from some struggle for liberation; what was decreed for us at a time when we were simply a huddled mass of German survivors.

"Does Germany yet know what freedom is? Political liberty was created by Europeans in struggle; Kant once referred to 'the events in Holland and Switzerland, in England and America' as the 'most important events in modern history.' Today we Germans are only enjoying the political fruits of these events. But can we become true democrats? Up till now ours is only a superficial relation to democracy; it is a mere form of government, and has little to do either with hearts or minds."

There seems no finer philosophical conclusion for a subject without an end. How can we do anything but suspend judgment on the state of democracy in Germany when that democracy itself is in a state of suspension?

MONTREAL MEETINGS

★Mrs. Golda Meir, Israel Minister, for Foreign Affairs, will be guest speaker at a dinner of the Bond organization, at the Sheraton-Mount Royal Hotel, on Saturday, December 1. Samuel J. Davidson and Milton L. Klein, Q.C., are general co-chairmen of the local Bond organization. Mrs. Meir, who was last here in 1959, will spend a short stay in Montreal, following her visit to Ottawa where she will be guest of the Canadian Government. The Foreign Minister will arrive in Montreal on November 30 and will be received by Mayor Jean Drapeau at a civic reception at two o'clock. This will be followed by a press conference at 3.30 p.m. Mayor Drapeau and Mrs. Meir will exchange gifts at the City Hall reception. Israel's Foreign Minister will leave Montreal for Toronto, on Sunday morning, December 2, for a series of meetings there on behalf of Israel Bonds.

★ CANADIAN ASSOCIATION ★

For Labor Israel (Histadrut): Abraham Shurem, national executive director of the Histadrut in Canada, was honoured at a banquet in the Mount Royal Hotel, arranged by the Labor Zionist Movement to celebrate his 60th birthday. A number of speakers and greeters described his work and role in Canadian Jewish activities, especially for Labor Zionism, as bound not only with the city of Montreal, but within every community in Canada where Histadrut work is carried on. M. Oberman, president of the Labor Zionist Movement in Montreal, was chairman. All the branches of the Movement were represented. All underscored Mr. Shurem's achievements for the Histadrut and cultural and communal life in general. David Rivlin, General Consul of Israel in Montreal, greeted the honored guest, also in the name of Ambassador Yaacov Herzog, of Israel. He said that all Israeli representatives in Canada, who proceeded him, spoke with warmth about Mr. Shurem, who did much to bring the spirit of Israel to Canada. Among those who cabled from Israel were: Joshua Levi, treasurer of the Vaad Hapoel, and Isaac Hamlin. Among those in the United States who sent telegraphed messages were: Rabbi J. J. Weinstein, national chairman of the Histadrut Campaign in the United States; and S. Bonchuk, M. L. Brown, Louis Segal, leaders of the Farband Labor Zionist Order. Cabled greetings were received from Central and South American Histadrut Committees. Greetings from the Canadian Labor Congress reflected the warm relationship between organized labour in Canada and Histadrut in Israel. This feeling was also voiced by Bernard Shane, Vice-President of the International Ladies Garment Workers' Union, who warmly greeted Mr. Shurem for his activities in the labour movement in Canada, by tieing them in with the ideals and aims of the Histadrut, the body of organized labour in Israel. Giving greetings in the name of the Labor Zionist Movement, Leon Kronitz stressed two important aspects: Firstly, that Mr. Shurem is not only preoccupied with the raising of money for the Histadrut but to bring into homes the ideal of labour Zionism; and that Mr. Shurem works with "heart and soul and idealism. In spite of his busy schedule he finds time to read a book. He is cultured and has a warm feeling for the written works of Jewish writers." Among those present as guests were Melech Ravitch, prominent speaker, writer, poet and philosopher and the historian B. G. Sack and his wife. Greetings were given by Bernard M. Bloomfield, national president of the Histadrut campaign in Canada; Louis M. Bloomfield, Q.C., chairman of the Montreal Histadrut campaign. A. L. Achbar, national treasurer, spoke in the name of the Ottawa Histadrut campaign. I. Guberman gave greetings in the name of the City Committee, of the Farband Labor Zionist Order, of which he is chairman. Baruch Isenberg, comptroller of the Canadian Histadrut campaign, greeted in the name of the Montreal Histadrut campaign office. Issie Nachshen greeted in the name of a Mapam group in Montreal and H. Shwitzman, a close friend of the honored guest. Mrs. Ida Rosen, who is the Pioneer Women, Histadrut Division, warmly greeted Abraham Shurem, in the name of the Pioneer Women Organization of Montreal. She greeted especially Mrs. Rochel Shurem, the wife of the celebrant and presented her with flowers. Louis Zuker greeted Abraham Shurem and presented him with a gift. The well-known radio, opera and T.V. artist, Belva Boroditsky, sang. Mr. Shurem spoke in thanks.

CLASS IN COOKERY

one cup oil
one cup sugar
three teaspoons baking powder
one-half cup raisins
one cup water
three cups all-purpose flour three eggs
one-half teaspoon salt
one-half cup candied cherries

Mix sugar, oil, yolks of eggs, and water. Add sifted flour, salt, and baking powder. Mix well. Add candied cherries and raisins. Beat whites of eggs until stiff and fold into mixture. Grease eight-by-eight-inch, square, cake pan, and pour in mixture. Preheat oven 350 degrees for ten minutes. Put in cake mixture and bake for three-quarters of an hour until brown.

Mrs. S. Kraisman,

MARRIAGES

LEVY-ROMBERG

The marriage of Miss Phyllis Itta Romberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Romberg, 12 Stadacona Drive, to Stuart Levy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Levy, 759 Lawrence Avenue West, was solemnized at Adath Israel Synagogue, on November 6, at six o'clock, by Rabbi Erwin Schild, assisted by Cantor Murray Nixon. The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore a gown of white peau de soie, embroidered in silver threading and fashioned with a round neckline; and an A-line skirt; and a long-sleeved self-jacket. The separate cathedral train was attached to the waistline. A tiara of flowers, made of the same material as her gown, held the shoulder-length veil of tulle illusion. She carried white orchids and stephanotis, on a Bible, which belonged to her mother-in-law, Mrs. Louis Levy. Miss Irene Solish was maid of honour, wearing a gown composed of a brown velvet bodice; and a gold metallic bell-shaped skirt. She had a brown velvet pill-box hat; and her flowers were Talisman roses. Fern Levy, Nancy Levy, Niki Adler, and Natalie Berman, all cousins of the groom, were junior bridesmaids. Each wore a gown of candy-pink peau de soie, fashioned with an overblouse, and a bell-shaped skirt; and worn with a matching headband, with veiling. They had bouquets of Talisman roses. Marla Tittel, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, wearing a white, tiered dress of eyelet-embroidered ruffles, with velvet bow and streamers at the back; and a red velvet headband. She carried a gold basket with red and white rose petals. Matthew Levy, brother of the groom, was best man. The ushers were: Jerry Epstein, A. Levine, M. Himel, Milton Shore, Marvin Ungerman, and Joel Axelrod. Following the ceremony, three hundred guests were received at a dinner and reception, at the Synagogue. Mrs. Romberg, mother of the bride, wore a full-length gown of gold and silver brocade, and a matching headdress; and had a wristlet of white orchids. Mrs. Levy, mother of the groom, wore a full-length gown of gold brocade, and a matching headdress; and had a wristlet of white and gold-tinted orchids. Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Levy left by car for their honeymoon trip, to the Nevele Hotel, in Ellenville, N. Y. The bride departed in a three-piece marine-blue wool suit; and a black velvet pill-box hat; and had a white orchid corsage. They are residing at 650 Eglinton Avenue West. Here for the wedding were: Arthur Epstein, grandfather of the groom; Mrs. Ethel Rudikoff, Mrs. Sidney Ganz, and Mrs. Henrietta Liberman, all aunts of the groom; and Michael Rudikoff, cousin of the groom, all of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Mrs. Sophie Troster, great-aunt of the bride; Mesdames Nathan Troster, Sidney Troster, C. Greenberg, and H. Marcus, all of Montreal, Que.; Mr. and Mrs. M. Ordon, of Chatham, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. Irving Kneller, of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.; and Mr. and Mrs. I. Leon, of Hamilton, Ont.; —all cousins of the bride.

TORONTO MEETINGS

★ ISRAEL BONDS ★

A national leadership luncheon for chairmen and committee members for Israel Bond campaigns throughout Canada is being convened by Samuel Bronfman, national president, and D. Lou Harris, national chairman of the Bond organization, for December 2, at noon in Beth Tzedec Synagogue, in Toronto. Golda Meir, Israel Minister for Foreign Affairs, the guest speaker, will discuss top level matters pertaining to the present situation in Israel. The conveners hope that representatives from many communities will attend. Although Mrs. Meir will visit Ottawa and Montreal, her stay in Toronto will be the only occasion for meeting top officials of Israel Bond campaigns.

★LITHUANIAN-JEWS★

Cultural Committee of the Farband in Toronto have arranged a memorial evening in honour of the late Samuel Kronick, to be held on Sunday, December 10, at 8.30 p.m., at the new auditorium, of the Jewish Public Library, 22 Glen Park Avenue. The chairman will be Julius Hayman, president of the Central Region, Zionist Organization. Participating in the service will be: Dr. Abraham L. Feinberg, Rabbi Emeritus of Holy Blossom Temple; A. B. Bennett, past president of the Canadian Jewish Congress, Central Division, and a very close friend of the late Samuel Kronick; J. B. Salsberg, past member of provincial Parliament; and Cantor Nathan Stolnitz. The late Samuel Kronick was honorary president of the Farband of Lithuanian Jews in Toronto. The arrangement committee is Cantor Nathan Stolnitz, Chaim Berniker, and Reuben Madesker. Friends and admirers of the late Samuel Kronick, as well as members of the Lithuanian Jewish Organization, are invited; everyone is welcome.

★Rabbi Solomon Spiro, leader of Beth El Synagogue, was appointed to the Committee on Jewish Law and Standards of the Rabbinical Assembly of America, for a five-year term. The Rabbinical Assembly is the organization of over 750 Conservative Rabbis in Canada and the United States. The Law Committee interprets Jewish tradition and law, making it relevant to the unique problems posed by the twentieth century, and meets periodically at the Jewish Theological Seminary, in New York, when members report their research findings, issues and questions are discussed, and decisions are passed. As a student at the Jewish Theological Seminary, Rabbi Spiro pursued a special course of studies in Talmud (Jewish Law) after receiving the Michael Higger Memorial Prize in Talmud in 1956. In 1957 he was appointed a Fellow of the Seminary's Herbert H. Lehman Institute of Ethics, which engages in studies designed to show how the principles of Jewish Law can be applied to solve modern ethical and moral problems. Rabbi Spiro attended the last session of the Committee.

★ SHAAREI SHOMAYIM ★

Wurzburger, Nathan Adler, Bert Halbert, Louis Kernerman, Elaine Newton, Manny Spring, Jennie Bazzer; and Mrs. Ted Waldman, president, who presided. Mrs. Walter S. Wurzburger gave the invocation. Mrs. Manny Spring, vice-president, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Elaine Newton, who gave a book review. Mrs. Victor Sefton thanked the speaker. The annual theatre night and social will be on Sunday, December 9, in the social hall of the Synagogue. The conveners are Mrs. Edward Solish and Mrs. Maurice Alexanderoff. The study group meets every second Tuesday morning with Rabbi Walter S. Wurzburger; and the chairman is Mrs. Harold Fink. The topic is "Contemporary History Of The Jewish People". Those who attended the national convention of the Union of Orthodox Sisterhoods of America, in Washington, D. C., were: Mesdames Ted Waldman, Saul Sigler, Irving Green, and Israel Weinberg.

★ UNITED JEWISH APPEAL ★

Charles H. Jordan, director-general of Overseas Operations for the Joint Distribution Committee, spoke to leaders of the United Jewish Welfare Fund, and of the Appeal, on greater demands for services by the JDC, at a special combined meeting called by Samuel J. Sable, president of the Welfare Fund. Of the urgency of the problem in France, where the influx of Algerian Jewish refugees has strained Jewish community facilities, Mr. Jordan noted that the Jewish population in France had jumped from around 300,000 to more than 500,000 in the past six years. "This makes the French Jewish community the fourth largest in the world," he said. "However, the nearly $3,000,000, which JDC will spend this year to help the French Jewish community cope with the emergency needs and develop long-range plans for integrating the newcomers, is only a tenth of JDC's total budget." Mr. Jordan pointed to JDC's continuing responsibility for those who remained behind. "In Algeria, for example, the 10,000 or less who remain, include a high percentage of aged, crippled, blind, and ill persons, who, now that the community welfare agencies have almost completely collapsed, are dependent on JDC for life itself," he said. Malben, JDC's welfare program for aged, ill, and handicapped immigrants in Israel, continues to require nearly a third of JDC's annual budget. JDC has spent more than $125,000,000 in the 13 years of the Malben program; JDC also provides financial aid to over 100 seminaries in Israel, with a combined enrollment of over 11,500, Mr. Jordan stated. In addition to aiding some 52,000 in France, JDC maintains welfare programs in Western Europe, Yugoslavia, Greece and Poland, for more Jews than at any other time in the past ten years. In Poland, JDC aid goes to nearly half of the estimated 25,000 remaining Jews. Mr. Jordan said: "Enormous problems still face us all in Morocco, Tunisia, and Iran, where residual Jewish population is totally dependent on us. Because of lack of funds, we have not yet been able to care for the Jewish aged in Morocco. Since continued neglect creates ever-increasing problems, this problem has become a must." JDC is a major beneficiary of the United Jewish Appeal.

Bank of Montreal Earnings And Assets Are At Record Heights

Year-end records in loans, deposits and resources, plus new highs in both profits earned and taxes paid, are all shown in the Bank of Montreal's 145th annual statement, for the year ended October 31.

The statement shows B of M loans at an all-time high of $2,269 million - 17.33 per cent more than a year ago, and reflecting a year of intense credit demands. In contrast, the bank's securities portfolio was reduced 12.5 per cent, from $1,107 million to $969 million.

B of M resources were reported at $4,015 million, a new year-end record, compared with $3,950 million a year ago. Deposits increased from $3,647 million to $3,713 million. Personal savings, amounting to $1,834 million, are up by $86 million.

Earnings, after taxes, for the bank's operations by more than 900 offices at home and abroad were $16,013,512, 9.84 per cent more than in 1961. Taxes also reached a new high - $18,353,442, or 14.6 per cent more than net earnings.

Dividend payments for the year to the bank's 22,000 shareholders have amounted to $12,757,550, or $2.10 per share, five cents more than the 1961 figure and ten cents more than was paid in 1960; and represent a return of 6.01 per cent on shareholders' equity.

An amount of $1,000,000 from tax-paid inner reserves is added to $4,531,938 in undivided profits, for a total of $5,531,938, and of this, $4,150,000 is transferred to the rest account, now at $150,000,000. The balance of undivided profits thus stands at $1,381,938.

Quickly available resources are listed at $1,820 million, or 47.85 per cent of the bank's public liabilities of $3,803 million, compared with a 54.56 per cent in 1961, and providing further evidence of the heavy credit demands made on the B of M during the year.

Valuation of bank premises is shown at $65,878,133, compared with $63,062,983 in 1961, an increase of 4.46 per cent, and an indication of continuing branch modernization and extension.

How Do The Wartime Allies Look At Germany, Its People, And Its Democracy Today?

BY JOSEPH BARRY, FORMER CHIEF OF THE NEW YORK TIMES PARIS BUREAU, NOW EUROPEAN CORRESPONDENT FOR THE NEW YORK POST, WRITING IN THE A.D.L. BULLETIN OF THE ANTI-DEFAMATION LEAGUE OF B'NAI B'RITH

Multiply the ways of love by the ways of hate and we may arrive at the many ways to look at Germany. We sample the variety and we take our choice — a choice we probably made before exposure to differing points of view.

Whom does one choose even to quote on Germany — its allies, its victims or itself? It itself, which self, the arrogant or the self-critical? For Germany, like Faust, has at least two spirits at war within, and beneath them all may be Selbsthass.

I had the occasion recently to quote a friend, Prof. Fred Warner Neal of Claremont College. Inside the long quotation was Prof. Neal's citation of Goethe to the effect that when he thought of Germany, he could not sleep. A half dozen readers wrote in to say it was not Goethe, but Heine, who could not sleep. And so, most likely, it was. Both were the other Germany, as, to a lesser extent, was Thomas Mann.

How, to narrow down our subject, do the Allies of World War II view their former enemy, now, at least in the case of the Western Allies, their "firmest friend?"

There are, to begin with, the peoples and the governments — a necessary distinction. For instance, Gen. de Gaulle, who is France in his and many of his compatriots' eyes, is Adenauer's best friend, if one were to judge by his willingness to fight for Berlin, should the crisis come to that. What then are we to make of a poll taken in September stating that eight out of ten Frenchmen do not think Berlin worth the risk of a world war?

And what do we, who presumably have first-hand estimates of America's "true" attitude, make of a Gallup poll proving that seven out of ten Americans are ready to fight for Berlin? Don't those of us with another viewpoint suspect that the seven out of ten, if asked for their readiness to "die" for Berlin, would have replied largely in the negative?

Even the British government, more responsive to popular opinion than any in Europe, has been forced to play a double game. It wants to show enough firmness on Berlin to impress Washington, but not so much as to frustrate negotiations. It needs Adenauer's support for its application to the Common Market in the face of de Gaulle's coolness, yet it is uneasily alert to the unpopularity of Adenauer's hard line at home, not to speak of the unpopularity of the Germans themselves, whose war crimes are unforgiven by the British people, though they are trying to forget them.

The contrast between official and unofficial attitudes towards Germany, i.e. NATO Germany, can lead to various complications. Who has greater cause to fear Germany than those few who escaped the Nazis and fled to Israel? Yet official Israel has come to an understanding with official West Germany. For Bonn, an entente between the Jewish state and the former Nazi state was considered vital for West Germany's moral re-entry into the civilized world. For Israel, Adenauer's explation was deemed sufficient.

What then do we make of the latest development? According to the British Sunday Telegraph, Bonn is blackballing Israel's attempt to join the Common Market as an associate member, because West German industrialists are afraid to affront their Arab customers. Moreover, Bonn is now less interested in establishing full diplomatic relations with Israel, sought so long by the expiating Adenauer, because, as an Israeli official is reported as saying, "They are scared the United Arab Republic and the other Arab states will establish diplomatic relations with Ulbricht's regime in East Germany."

If true (and it rings true, does it not?) how shallow West German repentance and willingness to make amends must seem to the world's Jews, if not to the world at large.

The ugly, immoral truth is that governmental attitudes towards West, or for that matter East, Germany depend on what each cynically regards as its own self-interest, either Cold War or commercial. Official relations are not based on the internal state of Germany's democracy or regeneration or, in a phrase, on any of the humanities. At least since Dulles' death, there has been little love lost in these relations, and Dulles too was less sentimental than he was often willing to seem to be in his public greetings of Adenauer.

As for popular, very unofficial attitudes towards Germany, those of the people on the other side of the Great Divide can be easily summed up: the Germans, East and West, are about equally feared and hated. I should say from my own observations that Ulbricht is as disliked in Poland as he is in his own "Democratic Republic."

However, to be completely just, one must report that in Eastern Europe the fear of a rearmed West Germany is greater than the memoried hate of all Germans. It's a fear that has been funded by Soviet propaganda and fed by news of West Germany readying for nuclear weapons. Poland especially is haunted by the possibility of a German reconquest of the "lost provinces" beyond the Oder-Neisse.

As for East Europeans in general, all who have known the Nazis, their fear and hate of West — and East — Germany is precisely proportional to the populations and military strength of the two states, that is, roughly four to one.

No such sweeping generalization can be made, at least not by me, about the attitude of West Europe's people towards Germany, East or West, or towards "the Germans." It's one thing to have an opinion on "Germany" (generally formed by one's newspaper or party) and quite another to have an opinion on "the Germans" (usually based on such things as contact with German tourists or survival from German camps — neither, incidentally, contributing to German popularity).

The apple-cheeked German youth now training near French and English villages were chosen with the special care of selected colored children for Little Rock's High School and, on the whole, have been integrated with less trouble. The German boys and girls one sees at the Café des Deux Magots sing cowboy songs with an authentic American accent and sport the beards of our own beatniks. Despite the newspaper jokes, German tourists are not really less liked than French tourists, say, in Spain.

It's a truism to repeat it, but people are more alike than unlike, superficially speaking, and the superficial is all that one people generally see of another. The West Berliners, so much on European television, behaved exactly like an American audience responding to a prompter's TV cards, cheering and applauding while Vice-President Johnson passed out ballpoint pens initialed LBJ.

How can the most bitter anti-German stroll in Dusseldorf and hate the young German mothers as they push their baby carriages? We've all studied the photos of the Germans who wept when they saw the swastikas painted on the Cologne synagogue one recent Christmas eve. And we've all been

What are
THE FACTS BEHIND THE FIGURES
at "MY BANK"
TO 3 MILLION CANADIANS
B of M

Here is a concise summary in layman's language of how the B of M stood at the year-end on October 31st, 1962

WHAT WE HAVE:

CASH: The B of M has cash in its vaults and money on deposit with the Bank of Canada and other banks amounting to . . . $ 520,065,342

CHEQUES and other items in transit—representing the net amount of the moneys moving between branches of the Bank and into the B of M from other banks on account of customers' transactions . . . 112,094,335

INVESTMENTS: The B of M maintains a strong liquid position through investments in high-grade government bonds which have a ready market. Listed on the Bank's books at amortized value, they amount to . . . 742,197,080

The B of M has other investments—including a diversified list of high-quality short-term issues. These investments are carried at . . . 226,832,563

CALL LOANS: The B of M has call loans which are fully protected by quickly saleable securities. These loans amount to . . 218,548,259

QUICKLY AVAILABLE RESOURCES: The resources listed above cover 47.8% of all that the Bank owes to the public. These "quick assets" amount to . . . $1,819,737,379

LOANS: During the year, many millions of dollars have been lent to business and industrial enterprises for production of every kind—to farmers, fishermen, oilmen, miners, lumbermen and ranchers—to citizens in all walks of life, and to community organizations and provincial and municipal governments. These loans amount to . . . $1,825,662,590

MORTGAGES and hypothecs insured under the National Housing Act, 1954—representing advances to homebuilders . . . 224,644,086

BANK BUILDINGS: In hamlets, villages, towns and large cities from coast to coast the B of M serves its customers at 900 offices. The value of the buildings owned by the Bank, together with furniture and equipment, is shown on its books at . . 65,878,133

OTHER ASSETS: These chiefly represent liabilities of customers for commitments made by the Bank on their behalf, covering foreign and domestic trade transactions 79,222,188

TOTAL RESOURCES WHICH THE B of M HAS TO MEET ITS OBLIGATIONS $4,015,164,576

WHAT WE OWE:

DEPOSITS: While many business firms, manufacturers, merchants, farmers and people in every type of business have substantial deposits with the B of M, about half of the money on deposit with the Bank is the savings of private citizens. The total of all deposits is $3,712,565,329

OTHER LIABILITIES: Miscellaneous items, representing mainly commitments undertaken by the Bank on behalf of customers in their foreign and domestic trade transactions 90,467,309

TOTAL OF WHAT THE B of M OWES ITS DEPOSITORS AND OTHERS $3,803,032,638

TO PAY ALL IT OWES, THE B of M HAS TOTAL RESOURCES, AS SHOWN ON THE LEFT SIDE OF THIS STATEMENT, AMOUNTING TO . . . $4,015,164,576

WHICH MEANS THAT THE B of M HAS RESOURCES, OVER AND ABOVE WHAT IT OWES, AMOUNTING TO . . . . . $ 212,131,938

This figure of $212,131,938 is made up of money subscribed by the shareholders and, to some extent, of earnings which have from time to time been ploughed back into the business to broaden the Bank's services and to give added protection for the depositors.
